

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for division multiplexing of optical signals, the method including modulating at least one wavelength of a carrier of optical information, by optical frequency division multiplexing the at least one wavelength.

Patented Feb. 10, 1964